

BEYOND GRAVITY

HOW IT WORKS

Prize Money

Prize money will be paid to all athletes from position 1-25. In a brand-new delivery model, prize money will be tied to a percentage of the live PPV broadcast revenue, offering genuine potential to deliver a six-figure prize purse for first place. In total, athletes will share 30% of the total live broadcast revenue.

Female racers will be paid for positions 1-3, with riders beyond these positions placed in the general event results on a gender-neutral basis.

A breakdown of proposed prize money percentages can be found below (note that positions are shown to 22 only, based on a full 1-3 female podium).

Guaranteed minimum prize money for top three places will be as below:

1st Place - $25k AUD

2nd Place - $15k AUD

3rd Place - $10k AUD

Guaranteed minimum prize money will be $5k AUD (25th place).

The total guaranteed minimum prize pool will be $192k. If the live broadcast hits 150k viewers, athletes will share in a massive ~$800k cash prize pool ($100k+ first place male and female).

Prize money projections based on target minimum broadcast viewer numbers can be found below. Note that these projections are based on current PPV pricing, and are subject to change. Prize money is only shown down to 22nd place, based on a full female podium and 1-3 podium prize purse.
